

Panel 12

UNDERSTANDING ORCAS: WHAT WE DON'T KNOW

The more we study orcas, the more they surprise us.

We are still learning about their life cycles, their bodies and their minds.
And we are still asking questions.

Why won't hungry orcas try new foods?

How do they determine their territories?

Do they have names for each other?

Do they have a language?

How smart are they?

And what do they think of us?